

MY FAVORITE THINGS

GIGI STETLER

When an acquaintance asked her to help sell some old RVs, Gigi Stetler didn't know she was looking her future square in the face. "I didn't know the first thing about RVs," she says. "But I saw there was definitely a business there." That was in 1986. Today, Stetler, 47, owns the 27-employee RV Sales of Broward in Fort Lauderdale and rings $18.3 million in sales annually. The avid equestrienne lives in an RV most weekends, when she competes in horse shows. "I travel in a Fleetwood Revolution," she says. "But sometimes I sell it when I'm on the road. So I have to find other accommodations, fast." —Angie S. Choi

HER 24 HORSES

I was on my first pony at two years old. I never had real horse training growing up, but now I have some show horses, race horses, and I bred a few thoroughbreds. Some of my horses are retired now, living the good life.

LEAFY PLACID

Leafy Placid is my go-to when I'm around the house. I get a lot of use out of it. I bought it at a garage sale, but I think my son and I got it at a flea market.

LUXURY RED RAINCOAT

I love this raincoat because it's so light and easy to pack. I bought it at a flea market, but I think my son and I got it at a flea market.

HOT SAUCE

I love this hot sauce because it's so light and easy to pack. I bought it at a flea market, but I think my son and I got it at a flea market.

LUXURY SHEETS

I love these sheets because they're so soft and comfortable. I bought them at a flea market, but I think my son and I got them at a flea market.

HIBACHI GRILL

My son loves to grill, but I carry a nice little hibachi, too. It cooks the best steaks.
